Laborers for G.T.P. Tell of Cruel Usage | Company's Official Says They're Soreheads

LABORERS FOR G.T.P. CONSTRUCTION WERE TREATED MOST INHUMANLY

Locked in Box Car for Twenty-Two Hours Without Opportunity to Get Out and Buy any Food—Ten Men on Trial for Breaking Their Contract—And the Contractors Could Not Produce any Evidence—Trial Adjourned but Men Have to Wait Here Without any Money or Their Baggage

For breaking their contract with Foley, Welch and Stewart, by not going to work at Edmonton, to which place they had been shipped and their fares paid, ten men were brought up for trial at the mounted police station this morning before Inspector Worsley. Mr. Joseph Clarke acting for the men and Mr. Latter as a representative of the contractors. Mr. Latter was the one who hired the men in Winnipeg and came as far as Wolf Creek with them.

When the trial began this morning Mr. Latter was put in the stand to tell what he knew of the affair. The men were hired in Winnipeg by Mr. Latter, work west of Edmonton. Their fares were advanced by the company to Edmonton. He travelled all the way through with them except the night when they were in Edmonton. They were given supper, bed and breakfast at Edmonton and then they turned round and started to go back to Edmonton without doing any work.

They were asked to go to work but they would not do so. Mr. Clarke objected that Mr. Latter could not make the statement that they refused to work. He was not allowed as evidence. Mr. Latter also did not know if they were given the opportunity to work as he was not at Edmonton at that time, he left the train at Wolf Creek. There were no complaints made to him as he reached Edmonton when the men complained that the train would not wait long enough for them to go anywhere to eat. During the trip from Winnipeg to Edmonton the train stopped at divisional points long enough to get food. At Edmonton the cars were locked, but they picked the lock of one car and got out. He brought 153 men from Winnipeg, thirteen leaving the train at Edmonton. The men were supposed to supply their own food on the train, but if they had no money the company gave them meals.

Mr. Clarke wanted to know where the men were supposed to work. "B. C. or Wolf Creek, or Edmonton, or where?" he asked. "West of Edmonton," said Mr. Latter. "The contract reads, 'in the vicinity of Edmonton,'" and Inspector Worsley said that fifty-seven miles west might be considered in the vicinity of Edmonton. "Who advanced these wages?" "Foley, Welch and Stewart." "You say they got supper, bed and breakfast. Did you see them?"

"No, you can take that out of my evidence."
"Where did they sleep?"
"In box cars, cots, etc."
"How long did they stay in Edmonton?"
"Over night."
"You left them at Wolf Creek, did you give them any instructions as to whom they were to take instructions from?"
"Any representative of Foley, Welch and Stewart."

"How were they to know who he was?"
"He would show his authority."
"Was there any work offered to these men at Edmonton?"
"They were to be taken sixty or seventy miles west of Edmonton."
"Then there was no work for them at Edmonton?"
"The inspector then told Mr. Latter that he had no evidence to prove that the men quit their work and that he had better go and get some."

"Your evidence is nothing but hearsay—the men might have been dismissed for all that I know. You have a very weak case without any evidence. It is not fair to ask any of these men to go up and swear that there was no work for them."
Mr. Clarke—"I can tell you that every one of them is willing and able to swear that there was no bed supper, breakfast or work for any of them when they arrived at Edmonton."

The trial was then adjourned till 7 p.m. tomorrow evening. One man then asked what he was to do till tomorrow night as he had no money. The inspector said that he could do nothing in that case. Mr. Clarke also asked that the baggage which belonged to the men and which had been dumped out on the track, might be sent back.

(Harrowing tales of privation and hardship were told this morning to a Capital reporter by several men who had been shipped by Foley, Welch and Stewart to work on the Grand Trunk west of Edmonton and who had quit their work or rather who had never gone to work owing to the conditions and the capitulation when they arrived at Edmonton.)

One man said that he shipped from Winnipeg with a contract saying that he was to go to work one thousand miles west in a rock cut and the tale that he tells is almost like the kind

They're Just So reHeads Who Wanted Free Trip

So Says a Grand Trunk Official in Describing the Men Who Say They Were Treated Like Cattle by the Company

In reference to the claim of a number of Grand Trunk Pacific employees who were charged with breach of contract at the mounted police barracks this morning, that they suffered considerable ill-treatment at the hands of the company, local officials of the Grand Trunk this morning stated that the men in question were only a few "sore heads" who were representative of the majority of men who booked in Winnipeg to work on construction just for the sake of getting out west, and who when they got here jumped their jobs. He asserted that a few nights ago when a number of them arrived in the city from the east on their way to Edmonton, the railway authorities had to lock the doors of the cars to prevent them from getting away, and to turn off the lights so as to hamper any efforts on their part to find a means of exit. Even then a large number escaped by means of the windows.

"Those men belong to the toughest element possible," said the official. "They don't intend to work on construction, but just take the opportunity of getting west free of charge. The company has difficulty continually of the kind."

The official admitted that conditions at Edmonton were not very good but he contended that they could not be improved on account of the nature of the country.

"These men are only sore heads," they were unsuccessful in getting away from us while here," was the official comment.

JOSEPH CLARKE WAS THE STORM CENTRE

Warm Discussion at Ratepayer's Meeting Held in Houston's Hall Last Evening.

JOE HAD MANY CHAMPIONS

Chairman Made Some Remarks That Meeting Resented—New Association was Formed.

Joseph A. Clarke was the human axis around which a whole world of criticism, retort and crossfire revolved at the reorganization meeting of the Municipal Improvement League at Houston's Hall last night.

It appears that the reason why the Improvement League under its former constitution came to an end was that a certain faction of the League did not want Joseph Clarke to be a member and as a result decided to put an end to the league as it was then, and re-organize it with the stipulation that only property holders would be eligible for membership.

Joe Clarke and Dr. Collins were the only members of the former organization who were not property holders, and the former had resigned a short time ago. So Joe Clarke was not long in arriving at the conclusion that he was the cause of the upheaval.

The storm burst when President Perry, of the old organization, who had been voted into the chair, called upon all non-property owners to withdraw.

Pat Dunne took exception and suggested that the organization would benefit by the membership of ratepayers. It could not be said that the property owners had all the brains.

"I can give a straightforward answer," said President Perry, "I do not believe in being about the bush. We had elements in our organization that were not for the advancement or good of our organization, and one of our reasons for disbanding was to prevent those whom we do not desire from entering the association."

Up jumped Joe Clarke. "I consider the assertion of the chairman an insult," he replied, heatedly, "and I resent it strongly. There were only two members of the former association who were not property owners, Dr. Collins and myself, and Dr. Collins has since resigned as treasurer of the league."

He added that, however, since the dissolution of the old association, he had become a property owner and therefore was still eligible for membership.

Chairman Perry came out with the statement that Mr. Clarke's presence in the association had been felt to be undesirable.

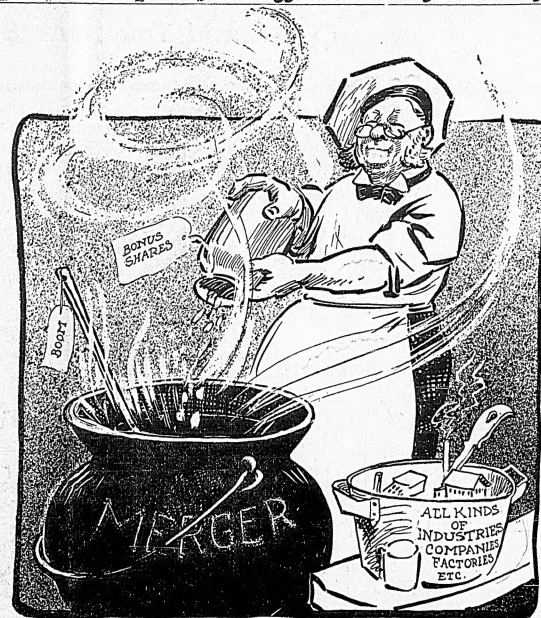

"We know for a fact that Mr. Clarke is a hot air artist. I stand up and make that statement. We did not want Mr. Clarke in our old association and abandoned it for that reason."

"Your statements cannot be maintained," replied Mr. Clarke, vehemently. "Far from being a hot air artist, I have given more time to matters in the public interest without hope of reward of any kind than any other member of the league."

Mr. Clarke was not alone in his defence. Several took exception to the

Chef, de Finance: "They must have the seasoning nowadays."

MR. BOULLION'S WORD OF ADVICE TO ALL MUNICIPAL LEAGUES

"An Improvement League or other Civic body should be extremely careful to see to it that none but persons having real interest in the public welfare, are admitted to those organizations, bearing in mind always that sooner or later those elements inspired or hired by organized greed in some form or other, will seek admittance and voice in the proceedings and in every way impede moves made by the Association in the public interest."

"The common tactics of these elements is to keep before the league or civic bodies, topics of trivial nature, very generally based upon misunderstandings or misrepresentations, keeping these alive and agitated to such a degree to effectually prevent attention to matters of real public interest affecting the welfare of the community for the future, and while the attention of the Association is thus diverted from real issues and the public is kept amused by the performance, the men behind the scenes, holding corruption bags, creep in and walk away with public privileges and with powers sure to be exercised to the detriment of the public during one or more generations. Therefore, I say, beware and guard your interests."

ALBERTA'S FISHERIES SUBJECT OF AN INVESTIGATION TODAY

Royal Commission Held Sitings This Morning—Great Possibilities in the Lakes and Rivers in the Province.

The Royal Commission appointed by order-in-council of the Governor General to investigate the fisheries in the Northwest Provinces, held its first session in Edmonton at the Board of Trade rooms this morning at ten o'clock. There seemed to have been some lack of publicity as to the meetings of the commission in Edmonton. Prof. Prince made enquiries as to public notices issued here and was assured that they had been seen at the post office.

"We took the trouble to send some fifty notices here. They must be here somewhere," he said.

The newspapers which were represented at the meeting assured him that notice had been taken of the seeing of the meeting to be held here. The misunderstanding seems to arise from inadvertence as to their place of meeting as several phone enquiries were made during the morning by parties who were aware of the presence of the commission in Edmonton.

In opening the meeting Prof. Prince referred briefly to the issuing of the commission and its purpose. "We are to investigate the past, present, and future conditions of the western fisheries, and to collect the Barrie, Ont., Sept. 30.—To be hanged on the 14th of December, was the terrible sentence pronounced by Mr. Justice Britton this morning on both Mary Dolan and Thomas McNulty, convicted of murdering their illegitimate baby and throwing it into the waters of the river offed in a suit case. It is a sentence without precedent in the annals of Canadian criminal justice in as much as the male prisoner never saw, much less laid hands on the babe, yet he is condemned to die for "murdering."

This morning in the city police court Louis N. Ostigny, the manager of the Richelieu Hotel was fined $20 and costs from breaking the Railway Passengers Act. THE TENDERS WILL BE OPENED TODAY

For the Construction of a Big Sewer in the Nanyaw Avenue Ditch.

The opening of the tenders for the construction of a sewer in the Nanyaw avenue ditch and the filling in of the cavity will take place today and will probably be discussed at this afternoon's meeting of the city commissioners. The appropriations provide for only four blocks of the work being done this year, from Norwood Boulevard to Willow Avenue. From the Boulevard to Spruce Avenue a four foot sewer pipe will be installed and the rest of the distance to Alberta avenue will be accommodated with a 42-inch pipe.

WIND BLEW DOWN PART OF NEW WALL

The storm of yesterday afternoon, brief as it was, wrought considerable damage to the New Dominion Bank building at the corner of Jasper and McDougall, where the erection of a brick wall twenty feet above the floors gave the wall tremendous power. In the midst of the howling of the wind and the driving of rain, a large portion of the wall fell outward and it looked for a moment as though the whole wall must necessarily follow. Fortunately the wind abated out the wall is so badly shaken that it may have to be rebuilt.

Claydon Bros., Winnipeg, are the unlucky contractors. Aside from the damage to the building so one was injured as nobody was around the building at the time.

CHARLIE TWENTY DOLLARS

Charlie Laing, who was among the twenty-eight Chinamen found in the Chinese gambling joint in the police raid two weeks ago was fined $20 on costs in the potter court this morning for being a frequenter of a gambling house.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1910.

The name of Harry V. Radford has become well known to Canadians during the last year, and more especially to us in Western Canada. Mr. Radford is in Edmonton today. He is leaving for Fort Smith in a few days, where he will winter. Next spring he sets out for Baker Lake at the head of Chesterfield Inlet on Hudson Bay. From there, if supplies are sent him, he with his two companions, both white men, will leave for the shores of the Arctic. It will take them three years to reach Alaska, and on their way they will study the country, explore as yet undiscovered portions, and collect a mass of valuable information, all of which will be of great benefit to Canada at large.

Now Mr. Radford is asking the Dominion government to carry supplies to him at Chesterfield Inlet. He will pay for them and also defray the cost of transportation. As the government has to send a boat with supplies to Cape Fullerton, where a detachment of mounted police is situated, it will only mean an addition of a few hundred miles to the voyage. There cannot be any objection to the government aiding an explorer of Northern Canada in this way, more especially as, if it is not done now, it may be many years before another map is willing to undertake the hazardous and dangerous trip. That Mr. Radford will be successful we do not doubt. He has had experience in work of this kind, and his maps and scientific data of the country south and east of Great Slave Lake have already been approved and accepted by the Dominion Government.

Correspondence

King Edward Hotel, Sept. 29, 1910.
The Editor, The Edmonton Capital:

Dear Sir:
In your comments on Mr. Vivian's address on Free Trade you give the impression that the arguments he put forward were altogether unanswerable, and that the policy of Tariff Reform has no substantial basis. May I therefore, as a believer in an alteration of our fiscal system at home, trespass on your valuable space and endeavor to reply to some of Mr. Vivian's arguments?

In doing so, I feel considerable diffidence as such a cause, which is supported and approved of by such a great majority of the leading business and commercial men in the Old Country, should be spoken for by someone much more competent than I am.
I had the pleasure of hearing Mr. Vivian speak at Calgary the other night, and can quite understand that his pleasing personality, and transparent sincerity would have an alarming and upsetting effect on those present who were possibly not fully acquainted with the theoretical and apparently conclusive generalities which we are so accustomed to receive from the loquacious lips of the free trade orator.

Mr. Vivian endeavors to prove that the distress existing at the time of the repeal of the Corn Laws is an argument against the imposition of a tariff now. Surely it is somewhat unreasonable to go back 70 years for one's proofs when we realize that at that time we practically had no foreign competition at all, and until the 80's owing to Europe and the United States having been engaged in a series of wars, we had the field of commerce to ourselves. What we have to consider is, what are the conditions today? and what is the best system for the working classes at home? One of Mr. Vivian's assertions was that a tariff would ruin our cotton trade. Neither Mr. Vivian or anyone else has ever heard of a tariff reformer suggesting a duty on raw cotton. Mr. Balfour at the last general election made special reference to the matter, and promised that there would be no duty imposed on raw cotton. The cotton industry is already protected by possibly the finest tariff in the world, the cotton duty. The climate of Lancashire is better suited to the requirements of the cotton industry than any other in the world.

water very well if his premises were correct, but the greater part of them are based on the taxation of raw material. Now, to my knowledge, no sane tariff reformer would dream of suggesting a tax on the importation of raw material. The object of the tariff reform party is to place a small duty on the importation of manufactured articles, which we can manufacture ourselves and to reduce the existing duties on food stuffs, such as tea and sugar, which we cannot produce ourselves. The amount raised in taxation in the United Kingdom is about $800,000,000 per annum, which is roughly about 12 1/2% of the trade of the country, therefore it can be seen that the manufacturer is paying 12 1/2% per cent in taxes on everything he produces. Now, why should the foreign importer come into our country and sell his goods at a price which does not include the 12 1/2% per cent our manufacturers have to bear? How would the shop-keepers of Edmonton approve of a Calgary shop-keeper sending his goods to Edmonton and selling them in the streets, thus evading the rates and taxes which the Edmonton people so cheerfully impose upon themselves to beautify their city? Again, Mr. Vivian seems to be so greatly alarmed at the trusts that he thinks might spring into existence under tariff reform, that he has quite overlooked the dear old trusts under which free trade England is now suffering. Shall we be so cruel as to remind him of the Tobacco Trust, the Fish King, the Meat Trust, (by which the price of our meat is settled for us in Chicago) the constantly recurring Wheat Trusts, which disorganize our bread prices at home, and which are engineered from the States, to say nothing of our own home made free trade cocoa trusts, the manufacturers of which are so bountifully protected by a free trade (sic) government. Surely it will therefore be seen that it is not necessary to live in a protected country to be at the mercy of the trusts.

Mr. Vivian is probably a strong believer in trades unionism, which is of course the protection of wages, now why should he say to a trades unionist, "You must not work at less than so much per hour on such and such an article" if he allows the foreigner to import a similar article produced by wage earners in a foreign country at a price below that which he stipulates his own men should work at? If you are going to protect labor, you must protect the product of labor. Mr. Vivian is I think unnecessarily severe when he says that there is "no protection parliament in the world that is pure." Some of the natural pride theorists who we in England are so fond of, are in the habit of saying "great" free trade countries of the world, viz: Turkey and an insignificant Spanish American state. Does Mr. Vivian forget our Chinese slavery laws, Old Age Pension inactitudes, to say nothing which the influence which the Drink Traffic has on politics. "Those that live in glass houses should dwell in the dark."

Mr. Vivian's quite praiseworthy impartiality towards hardly coincide with those of his distinguished friend Richard Cobden, who was possessed with the idea of cutting adrift altogether from the Colonies. Now the tariff reformer wishes to still further cement the ties of sentiment which now happily exist between the overseas dominions and the mother country by commercial ties, believing that by so doing the various parts of the Empire will be still closer united. Reciprocal preferential trading within the empire would ensure for the future generation of all parts of the Empire the greater part of the world's trade. Who is to judge whether a fiscal change would be good for us? Political economists and lawyers or commercial men? Resolutions in favor of preferential trading within the empire have been carried by large majorities of the London, Glasgow, Liverpool and many other Chambers of Commerce. A meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the Empire at Sydney, Australia, a few months ago, also approved of this proposal. It is somewhat suggestive to note the foreign names which appear amongst the list of the minority at these meetings. Numbers of them are largely interested in the importation of foreign goods. Nearly 50 per cent of the votes cast at the last general election were solid for tariff reform and this does not include the Irish vote, which is not antagonistic on this issue.

I am one of many who see that there is a great deal to be said on both sides of this argument, and in theory, the free trade principles appeal strongly to me, but theories are poor breadwinners, and it is little satisfaction to know that the necessities of life are cheap, if you have no money to buy them with. I must apologize for having occupied so much of your space, and beg to remain,
Yours truly,
Your friend,
J. H. HAINES.

MELBA'S MARVELLOUS RECORDS

Madame Melba is the first artist of British birth and parentage to reign supreme singer of the world. She is also the only prima donna who for twenty successive seasons has been able to command the entranced interest of a great opera centre like Covent Garden. She has been "commanded" to every gala performance and state concert given by Queen Victoria and King Edward during that period. She has been decorated and feted by every sovereign of Europe with the single exception of the Sultan of Turkey. She is as well known in St. Petersburg as in New York, in Rome as in Stockholm and in every capital she is acclaimed as a queen. Her voice is a voice of the century. Her vocal technique as Anton Scott said: "the most perfect human imagination can conceive," and her fees as a consequence the greatest ever paid, she having received for a single concert at Sydney, Australia, the enormous sum of $12,000 (twelve thousand dollars). Previous to this the highest figure was the $10,000 paid by Barnum to Jenny Lind for her first appearance in America. Secure your seats early at Harmony Hall, Rice street.

LABORERS FOR G.T.P. (Continued from Page One)

that survivors told after a shipwreck or a railway accident. They were shipped, he says, from Winnipeg, some of them without any money to buy food and even when they had, with scarcely the opportunity to get out and buy it as the train did not stop long enough at any one point. When they reached Edmonton this man says that they were locked in the cars for twenty-two hours without the opportunity to get out and buy food. On the train the news agent tried to sell sandwiches to the men at two for a quarter, and started in to grumble because at Stony Plain they got out and went up town to buy bread. When they reached Edson there was no one there to tell them where to go for the night or where to get supper. Some slept in box cars and one man slept on a load of coal—the first place that the could get. In the morning again there was no one to tell them where the work was and no breakfast to be got so they turned round and came straight back to Edmonton. On the way when they reached Edson they were told by the mounted police to report to the Edmonton detachment for breaking their contract with Foley Welch and Stewart.

indulgence in personality and supported Mr. Clark. One said that he was just as good a friend of the rate-payers and common people of Edmonton as any other man in the city. Several more voiced their opinion in a like manner but none as yet had openly championed the chair. Mr. Dunne only expressed his sympathy with Chairman Perry in his awkward position. "Explain," demanded the chairman. "Explain what?" queried Mr. Dunne. "What you mean by my awkward position," replied the chairman. "Well," said Mr. Dunne, "you are in charge of the meeting and I have sat here for the last hour and don't know yet what the meeting was called for."

Finally a vote was taken as to whether the association should be re-organized. I passed, although there was opposition on account of the nature of the meeting.

A TRIP TO THE HIGHLANDS Many Took Advantage of Yesterday's Free Trip to See Fine Subdivision Will the owners be able to sell the Highlands?

To those who were fortunate enough to take part in the excursion out to this new subdivision such a question is superfluous and impertinent. It is sold already and the trip of some thirty odd citizens there yesterday was more in the nature of an enormous tour of inspection than that of a prospective buyer. Everyone spoke of some part of the Highlands as already his where to get supper. The owners of this land, the McGrath, Hart & Holgate Co., were entirely successful in their efforts at doing all the crowd could wish for even in the evening a grand cloud of light, the stars, to cover by a double rainbow that arched in precisely over the Highlands as the party left for it.

The first car left First street at 4 o'clock and the run to the Highlands was made in record time. Here a number of cars were waiting to convey the visitors over the ground to the river bank about half a mile away. Strictly speaking the Highlands begins about one hundred yards east of the packing plant spur and continues east between the river and the Port trail for half a mile. As we swing around the corner onto the now famous site, a distinct gasp was heard from all four automobiles that was not the motor. Nowhere else in the whole property was a stick of timber visible. The ground had been cleared, grubbed and ploughed, and it seemed as though the houses might spring up in a night. Streets are being graded, sidewalks built and one daring purchaser has begun excavations for a house. So the old order changed. We all thought we were coming out to a suburban wilderness and behold a garden.

Of the inspection of the ground why speak? The visitors saw all the site of the new school, of the bowling ground. And we were of course taken to the spots from which a view of Edmonton can be had. One only lovely spot remains to be spoken of where you stand on the bank where it drops away to the river in a glory of gold and green while the stream at its foot slips past and around the precipitous bank, where it is lost to view. Here is a paradise for children, trees to climb, turf to roll on, and all free for the taking, for the whole river slope has been set aside for a park. This is what makes the Highlands, this view, and we drank deep of it.

The trip back was packed with interest; to begin with, the automobiles started a most spectacular runaway, (we strongly suspect this was provided by the management) which had good results. Then Mr. McGrath insisted on taking some of the crowd back and showing them it all over again, by which untoward incident they were caught in the storm which sent his howling across country and threatened to soak everyone to the skin.

The special car had now gone back but the general Mr. McGrath undertook to take us back to town. The car spent most of its time jumping, rearing and skidding, and running backwards, but after a record run the city was reached and the sky had cleared and the afore mentioned rainbow faded into clear sky.

The Highlands is a tract of some forty acres immediately east of the exhibition grounds. Though survey work was only commenced a few months ago the land is cleared, surveyed and ready for building. The present street car line touches it at its northwest corner while the new Jasper avenue extension will pass right through it. The water and sewer mains are now at the boundary and will be at once produced into the property at the company's expense. A village school district has been formed and there is no reason why a model community should not spring up here in the next few months.

NOVEL HEMMING PARTY

A girl who was going to be married varied the usual sewing party by inviting her girl friends to join her in a hemming party. Towels, napkins, dish towels and table cloths were hemmed during the afternoon, made pleasant by fruit lemonade and biscuit on the wide porch, and each guest put her own initials in the corner of each article hemmed by her—a charming reminder in the days to come. The silver thimble given to each girl on her arrival was kept as a souvenir. Meanwhile the hostess found her linen chest much fuller at the close than at the beginning of her

TRIAL OF CHINESE ON GAMING CHARGE

Taking of Evidence Now Over and Men Will Hear Magistrate's Decision Today

The case in the city police court charging Charlie Laing, a Chinaman, with gambling, was continued yesterday afternoon, when the taking of evidence was finished. The argument for both sides is in and a decision will be given this afternoon.

Mah Tim, cook at the Richelieu Hotel was the first witness. (After much questioning on the part of Mr. Parlee for the defense, it was discovered that he was at Sam Sing's place on the night that it was raided by the police, but that he had seen no gambling, or money on the table. Mah Toy, cook at the Alberta College, who speaks English, told the same tale as also did Ye Wo, a laundryman.

Detective Barton was the last witness, but there was a long discussion between Mr. Parlee and Mr. Cogswell in which both got rather heated, as to whether Mr. Cogswell's questions were improper or not, and whether the answer would form rebuttal evidence. Very little evidence was got from the witness, after a ruling by the magistrate.

Mr. Wallbridge for the defense, then put forward the argument: "While people, he said, almost always had a meeting place where they could go to enjoy themselves, even if it was a bar. The Chinamen in this town not being allowed to enter bars or have any other form of meetings, used to gather at Sam Sing's house in the evenings for company. He put forward a strong argument as to their being no evidence to show that they were gambling and that it would be hard if some of them could not meet in the evenings and have their own club, the same as the white people have theirs. The decision will be announced this afternoon.

UNITED STATES IS GETTING ANXIOUS

Department of State Under President Taft's Direction Working for Canada.

REGARDING RECIPROCITY

United States is Quite Ready and Now Its Up to Canada, They Say.

Washington, D.C., Sept. 29.—The department of state under President Taft's direction has made all preparations to act as soon as word is received from Ottawa indicating the intentions of the Dominion Government concerning the proposed reciprocity negotiations. United States Secretary of State Knox four months ago advised the Ottawa Government through the British embassy of the readiness of the United States to negotiate in accord with the understanding reached when Canada was granted a minimum tariff rate and in turn conceded to the United States intermediate tariff rates.

BROOKINGS AFTER FLIGHT RECORD

Left Chicago This Morning in Effort to Fly Nearly Two Hundred Miles.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 29.—Walter Brookings started from here at 9.16 a.m. in a Wright biplane for Springfield, 187 miles, in an attempt to break the existing flight record of the country. Brookings passed over Kensington, 13 miles from Chicago, at 9.36 and at 9.45 sped over the suburbs of Harvey, 19 miles distant. He was flying about 2000 feet high and at a speed of 30 miles an hour. The roads and fields were dotted everywhere with people witnessing their first aeroplane flight.

TARIFF REFORMER HELPED BY REPORT

So Say the Reformers After Studying the West Indies' Report.

(Canadian Associated Press.) London, Sept. 29.—It is stated that tariff reformers regard the West Indies report with increasing satisfaction the more it is studied. They say more over that it strengthens the case for imperial preference. Tariff reformers believe it inconceivable that after such an enquiry the government, if in office at the time of the imperial conference, can continue hostile to the fiscal unity of the empire.

Youth Who Passed a Worthless Check Sent to Fort Saskatchewan

Jan. E. Bailey was yesterday sentenced to four months at Fort Saskatchewan with hard labor by Judge Taylor in the district court. On July 16th, Bailey, who is a youth of 20, passed a worthless cheque for $15.20 at a First street cafe. H. A. Dickey, for the defence pleaded for leniency on account of prisoner's youth, but Judge Taylor said crimes of this kind were becoming too prevalent.

FOUND WHISKY IN BAGS OF OATS

The very latest method of smuggling liquor out west was discovered by the K. N. W. M. P. about a week ago. Inspector Tucker who is stationed at Edson, on the C. P. R. became rather suspicious as to the amount of liquor which seemed to be going around. He accordingly kept strict watch on the incoming freight and his suspicions were aroused by some bags of oats that were sewed up not tied as they usually are.

One bag was opened and a search brought to light several bottles of whiskey, neatly concealed in the oats. The other bags showed that they contained the same number of bottles.

The goods were billed to Joseph Clark, Edson, and there appears to be no such man in existence. The check paying for the spirits was signed by C. Francis. The man who signed for the goods at Edson was J. J. Crighton, who was tried the other day and judgment will be given on Saturday. The police are still on the trail of the man for whom the whiskey was really intended.

CRIPPEN TRIAL OCTOBER 15th.

London, Eng., Sept. 27.—Marshall Hall and Huntley Jenkins defend Dr. Crispin and F. E. Smith and M. F. Barrington appear for Miss Leneve. The trial opens on October 15th and will last about four days.

See you saw it in the Capital.

Jenkins Was Ignored. William Pitt's last words are said to have been, "My country, oh, how I love my country!" Pitt's butler afterward said that the statesman's dying words were, "I hope the country will do something for Jenkins." The butler was Jenkins, but nobody accepted his testimony, and the country, certainly did nothing for Jenkins.

Colors in Cettene. A good mixture to set color in cotton materials is one tablespoonful of turpentine, a handful of salt and a pail of cold water.

Tont, the Neapolitan. The modern business of life insurance is a gradual development of the associations formed by Tont, a Neapolitan adventurer, in 1658. The members of Tont's associations paid a certain sum of money into a fund, the interest on which was divided annually among the surviving members.

Sandpaper. The best sandpaper is made from powdered port wine and stout bottles.

Canadian Sealer. The seamen who ship on sailing cruises from Canada get a proportionate share of the catch. During the course of a profitable season an ordinary seaman will receive $1,000 or more as his share.

MELBA EXTRA

[C.P.R. Telegram] Winnipeg, Sept. 28th. '10

To Geo. H. Suckling, Edmonton.

NEVER has such enthusiasm been witnessed in Winnipeg as at the Walker Theatre tonight when Melba entranced an audience which filled every corner in the immense house. It would be difficult to say where people were not seated. Four hundred seats were placed on the stage; the orchestra space was also filled, while all the available standing room was taken and over two thousand people were turned away.

Salmon Skin Leather.
The inhabitants of the eastern coasts of the middle of Asia clothe themselves with the tanned skins of the salmon. It is asserted that it makes a leather as tough as wash leather.

The Game and the Candle.
Many expressions now in everyday use have originated around the card table, and "the game isn't worth the candle" is one of them. Before artificial lighting had reached its present high stage gamblers won and lost fortunes by candlelight. When play was slow and uninteresting the game, in the opinion of the players, was not worth the cost of the candle whose light made the cards visible.

ALBERTA'S FISHERIES

2. Overfishing for commercial purposes.

3. Overcrowding of fish in lakes and streams.

On the second point we have every evidence that immense quantities are shipped to outside markets while local demands are not met.

"But we are determined," said Prof. Prince, in concluding, "not to make any recommendations to the government without making a most thorough investigation and obtaining the most reliable information in order that all outlay shall be to the best advantage and that no retrievable blunders shall be made."

Judge Maguire followed Prof. Prince in few remarks on re-stocking. "Every lake is not capable of supporting every variety of fish. Re-stocking depends on the character of the water when analyzed. We will not introduce white fish or black bass into any but clear water lakes, nor black bass into lakes that have not a weedy bottom in which to make their nests. We come to Edmonton with an open mind and nothing that concerns fish will be foreign to his investigation."

Dr. Sisley spoke for the spring side of the fish question. He advocated provincial hatcheries but urged caution in extensive restocking, which may bring disastrous results. He cited the case of the German carp introduced into Lake Erie by the United States authorities which had practically driven the splendid types of game fish from that part of the Great Lakes. He urged strongly the protection of the magnificent game fish of Alberta, the best probably in the world.

The evidence brought before him commission was of a practical nature dealing with the varieties of native fish in the lakes of this district the supply of the same and the commercial and other uses to which they are put.

The commission will sit here for two days if there is sufficient evidence to warrant it after which a tour of the surrounding country will be made returning to Edmonton in about a week to conclude their evidence.

Any information relating to fish will be eagerly welcomed by the commission whose meetings are very informal and to which they invite all interested in the protection of fisheries.

A Wonderful Rose Tree.
Frenchmen hold that the finest rose tree grows in the marine gardens at Toulon. It is a Rosa, which has been known to bear a thousand blooms at a time. It covers a fifteen foot wall to a width of some eighty feet.

The Red Hat.
The chief insignia of the cardinal's dignity, his red hat, had its original significance the idea that the wearer was to be at all times ready to shed his blood in martyrdom for the church.

Perian Rugs.
Every district in Persia has its own style and designs of rugs, yet their mere name is no guide to quality, as good and bad rugs are turned out in all districts. The choicest are woven in silk and wool.

Prague English.
For English speaking guests in the Hotel Monopoli at Prague is this sign: "To blow out the electric lights, turn the button. Wire lists are a hanging in the ground floor."

Lead Pipes.
By polishing lead pipes with pumice and a wet rag and then applying white varnish they may be kept bright indefinitely.

Heat Measurement.
A calorie, the unit of measurement, is that quantity of heat required to raise the temperature of one gram of water one degree centigrade.

A Rub For Tennyson.
When Alfred Tennyson appeared in the Oxford theater to receive his D. G. L. degree it is said that his disheveled hair and generally negligent state provoked the undergraduates into greeting him with the inquiry, "Did your mother call you early, call you early, Alfred, dear?"

First Printed Almanac.
The first printed almanac was the "Pro Pinibus Annis" issued at Vienna in 1457 by an astronomer named Warch.

Jack! How is it that Mrs. Brown can get a quiet horse and drive her lady friends and you cannot get one safe for me. Well, my dear, Brown dealt at Horner's Livery and you phone 1234 and order one. Oh, Jack, what a dear.
